

What is the true reason for Collins' third-quarter departure from the game? Performance or injury? While we have a moment here in this Super Bowl XLV bye week, china nhl jersey, let's tackle both questions. The first question rarely comes in to play in NFL games. Teams have the option of classifying one of their three quarterbacks in a special game-day category, nfl jersey sizes, one that permits him to be in uniform but not count against the 45-man game day roster. If the third quarterback enters a game before the fourth quarter, the other two quarterbacks are ineligible to return to the game. As you probably recall, real nfl jerseys, Collins threw four interceptions in his only start of the season, a Week 5 victory over the Carolina Panthers. Hanie temporarily leapfrogged him on the depth chart afterward, but the Bears quietly reversed that move during their Week 8 bye. So when Cutler sprained his left knee Sunday, nfl and nike, design a hockey jersey, Collins was the next man up. It's well known that offensive coordinator Mike Martz preferred a veteran as the No. 2 quarterback, but Sunday's events -- Collins went 0-for-4 before Hanie took over for a late-game run -- called into question the Bears' judgment. After that Carolina game, on what grounds could they have justified Collins as their primary backup? As my ESPNChicago.com colleague Jeff Dickerson points out, Smith was at a loss to explain it himself. Ultimately, Smith said: "... We went through practice and we thought he gave us our best chance. We like a veteran being in that position. No more than that. You never know what your second and your third quarterback can do until they play again. Our guys got a chance to play, and we went through the process again with them. "We gave No. 2 an opportunity, he didn't do the job, nike nfl gear, cheap nfl jerseys, and we gave No. 3 [a chance], custom nfl jersey, design a football jersey, and we were really pleased with what he was able to do." Which dovetails into the second question. Why did the Bears insert Hanie into the game with 57 seconds remaining in the third quarter, university of michigan football jersey, hockey jersey database, a decision that rendered Collins (and Cutler) ineligible to return? Had Hanie been injured, the Bears would have had to finish the NFC Championship Game with someone other than a quarterback taking snaps. If they had allowed Collins to take the Bears' final two snaps of the third quarter, both of which were running plays, nike nfl store, they could have inserted Hanie to start the fourth quarter and maintained Collins' eligibility for emergency duty. There have been mixed reports about Collins' departure. Watching the game live, nike football jerseys 2012, authentic college football jerseys, nike new nfl jerseys, it appeared he was flexing his shoulder after a hit on his final play. If Collins were injured, an immediate change would have been justified. But Smith made no mention of an injury to Collins. Saying, nfl uniforms, "No. 2 didn't do the job" strongly implies that Collins' departure was performance related. Indeed, authentic nfl jerseys, Collins told Neil Hayes of the Chicago Sun-Times that it was a "coach's decision." On the other hand, Albert Breer of NFL.com is reporting Collins is scheduled to undergo an MRI on the shoulder this week. Something doesn't add up here. As we discussed Monday, nike jerseys, I don't think this issue cost the Bears the game. But if nothing else, it caused a meaningless delay in getting the right quarterback on the field. The game ended in disappointment for the Bears, nfl replica jersey, nike pro combat uniforms nfl, but they are fortunate it didn't end in embarrassment as well. Why was Caleb Hanie, and not Todd Collins, 2012 nike nfl, blank nhl jerseys, designated as the No. 3 quarterback? Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones had the good sense to reach out to Hall of Famer Roger Staubach when he started daydreaming about bringing a Super Bowl to North Texas. Staubach would become the chairman of the North Texas Super Bowl XLV Host Committee, and it made sense that a man known for his clutch performances would make the final pitch to the owners. ESPNDallas.com's Todd Archer caught up with Staubach this week and talked about his storied playing career as well as his success in the business world. Current Cowboys players such as Jason Witten have benefited from getting to spend time with Staubach, one of the most unassuming icons you'll ever meet. "When you play this game long enough, you realize that you probably made somebody angry along the way, nike pro combat uniforms nfl, texas a&m football jersey," Witten told Archer. "I don't know how he did it, nfl jersey me, notre dame football jersey, but there doesn't seem to be one person saying a negative thing about him still to this day. That's the kind of image we all want to have as a player when you come here. There are only two topics that I'm aware of that can still anger the hyper-competitive Staubach: those Super Bowl losses to the Steelers in the '70s and the fact that a backup quarterback named Clint Longley once sucker-punched him from behind in training camp. It will be interesting to watch him interact with some of the Steelers greats next week. He'll be courteous, nfl jersey history, but don't expect him to see him at dinner with any of those players. Under oath, nfl jerseys for 2012, nfl home jersey, Staubach might testify that a few of those Steelers don't belong in the Hall of Fame. But that's a topic for another day. In a way, blank hockey jerseys, nfl jersey contract, Chicago Bears coach Lovie Smith has been fortunate this week to have the national peanut gallery distracted by the Jay Cutler fiasco. It's taken the spotlight off what was, nike nfl equipment gloves, at the very least, nfl womens jerseys, questionable roster management at the position in the Bears' most important game
